Through the use of video diaries, Summer Matters Sacramento Mini-grantees showcase high-quality summer programming as aligned to the Comprehensive Assessment of Summer Programs (CASP).

Native Voices

A participatory media project impacting 25-30 urban, rural, and Native American youth through training and resources by utilizing digital tools to produce video reporting about their experiences. Additionally, the use of Native voices can document the importance of healing significant cultural trauma and in so doing, the Native voices included learners of Native learning projects with deep cultural knowledge.
